MODOC TRIAL.

CHARGES AGAINST THE MODOC ASSASSINS.

The Military Commission met on the morning of the 1[illegible] inst., at 10 o'clock, all the members and the Judge Advocate being present. Dispatches received by the Bulletin, say that it proceeded to the trial of Captain Jack, Schonchin, Boston Charley, Black Jim, Slotuck and Barncho, Indians who were present at the time of and implicated in the Canby massacre. After the usual mode of opening and swearing in the Court, the prisoners were brought in and arraigned upon the following charges and specifications:

Charge First—Murder in the violation of the laws of war. Specification 1st—In this, that they Indians called and commonly known as Captain Jack, Schonchin, Boston Charley, Black Jim, Barncho and Slotuck, members of a certain band of Indians known as the Modoc band of Indians, which band, including the Indians above named, was, at the time and place hereinafter alleged, engaged in open and flagrant war with the United States, under the command of Captain Jack, and did, as representatives of said Modoc band, meet under a flag of truce and suspension of hostilities, Brigadier General E. R. S. Canby, U. S. A., commanding the Military Department of the Columbia, and certain Peace Commissioners on the part of the United States, namely, E. Thomas, A. B. Meacham and L. S. Dyar, citizens of the United States, all representing the Government of the United States, for the agreed purpose of discussing and arranging the terms upon which the hostilities existing between the United States and said band of Indians might cease; and did therefore, in wanton violation of the sacred character of said flag of truce and suspension of hostilities, and treacherously disregarding the obligations imposed by said truce, under the laws of war, willfully, feloniously, and of malice aforethought, did kill and murder said Brigadier Gen. Canby, United States Army—all this, at or near the Lava Beds, so called, situated near Tule Lake, in the State of California, within the territories of the United States, on or about the 14th day of April, A. D. 1873.

The second specification is very near a verbatim copy of the above, except that the name of Dr. Thomas is substituted.

Charge Second—Assault with intent to kill A. B. Meacham and L. S. Dyar. Specifications about the same as the foregoing.

PEACE COMMISSIONER MEACHAM ON THE STAND.

Alfred B. Meacham, a witness for the prosecution, was called and sworn. He testified in substance as follows:

I was Chairman of the Special Peace Commission, with General Canby as adviser and counselor. We had two meetings with the Modocs officially—the first on the 3d of April and the second on the 11th of April—that was the last. After the first meeting—on the 3d of April—there seemed to be some difficulty about [illegible]ing a second meeting—on the 6th of April. I met all of these men and one or two others, I think, in an unofficial way, at the council tent, but made no positive arrangement for a subsequent meeting. On perhaps the 7th Mrs. Riddle, who was employed as interpreter, was sent as messenger to Jack's camp to make an effort to secure a meeting, and saying no meeting could be safely had. The assassination had been determined on, and she had been so notified. This fact she did not communicate to the Board directly, though she did to me by her husband. I laid the facts before the Board myself. On the 8th Boston Charley came into camp as a messenger from Jack's camp, proposing a meeting. He made four propositions: The first, to meet them near Jack's stronghold, five men to come, armed if they chose—naming Gen. Canby, Gen. Gillem, Dr. Thomas, Mr. Dyar and myself as the party, if we elected. The alternative was they would then meet us next day at the council tent. The proposition was refused.

Then, as a further inducement, if we would meet them on the first terms proposed, near Jack's stronghold, they said they would meet us the next day at the headquarters of General Gillem. Neither of these terms was accepted. That was the second proposition.

Then Boston stated that Captain Jack said: "You meet us at the council tent to-morrow, and next day we will meet you in the head quarters." This was the third proposition.

Q.—Was any mention made about arms or numbers?

A.—On the first two propositions, we were to meet armed if we chose. The proposition to meet at the council tent did not suggest that we should go armed.

Q.—Did it suggest that you should go unarmed?

A.—I don't think it did. I have no recollection that it did. This was on the 6th of April.

The fourth proposition was, that if we would meet them at the council tent, unarmed, Captain Jack and his people would come into camp and bring all of the goods they had and lay them down before the General.

All of these propositions were rejected. The place which Captain Jack finally designated as the place for the meeting was near the stronghold. The first meeting took place in one of those large sink holes. It is all rocky—a hole in the sunken rocks which was large enough to hold a small army. It was very rocky—a place that could be very easily surrounded.

Q.—And this was the place he desired you to meet him?

A.—That is my understanding. He desired us to meet at the same place we had the first meeting. All of these proposals were rejected. A proposition was sent back by us that we would meet Capt. Jack on equal terms, at the Council tent. My memory is not good enough to give you the whole force of the proposition. I know that was the substance of it.

Q.—What was the meaning of that?

A.—The meaning of that was that we were always willing to meet and have a talk, but wanted to go in a way that we could feel secure, we did not want them to have the advantage, that if Captain Jack wanted to bring an armed company of men with him, he must allow us to do the same. Then we would agree to the proposition. This is the substance of the message that was sent back by Boston in reply to Jack's overtures for the meeting. On Monday the 7th of April, Boston returned and desired Frank Riddle should go out and give Captain Jack advice. Frank was sent by the Commission, with instructions what to say to Captain Jack and his people. Captain Jack sent his reply by Riddle: that he did not want to come to the tent to talk.

Q.—What was the advice that was given to Riddle to convey to him?

A.—We instructed Riddle to say that we were willing to meet him at the tent on any terms that would be satisfactory. He refused to come to the tent, but still insisted that he was willing to meet us near his camp. He was unwilling to meet us at the council tent until the soldiers were all taken away, after which he would meet us at the council tent and talk to us about a new reservation, that he was unwilling to talk to us about any other place than Fairchild's Ranch or Cottonwood, that was his reply to Riddle.

Q.—Was this place he first designated near the stronghold a dangerous place for the Commissioners to meet him?

A.—We considered it very dangerous then. We were unwilling to go, on account of the danger. It was too far from military camp. It was nearer Captain Jack's camp than ours, and a very rough portion of the Lava Bed. It was a position that might be commanded by concealed men. That was our objection to a meeting there. The next proposition again came from Jack through Boston. It was to meet at the council tent. This last proposal of which I am speaking was made by Boston with the assurance that Captain Jack and his men were then waiting for us at the council tent. We were informed that such was the fact, and that in addition to it some twenty or thirty men were behind them in the rocks. I don't know through what source this information came, only it was from the station on the hill side. We refused to go that day. That was Wednesday. It must have been the 9th. On Thursday Boston again came in with the message from Captain Jack, accompanied by Hooker Jim, William and Dave. The propositions that were made that day I did not hear. I have only the memoranda and information obtained from Dr. Thomas during the day. The propositions that were made by Boston—that is on Thursday—were accepted by Dr. Thomas, and an agreement made to meet Captain Jack and five men, unarmed, at 11 o'clock—all parties unarmed—in the council tent on Friday. I know this agreement to have been made by Dr. Thomas on the evening of the 1[illegible]th, on my return from Boyle's Camp that night. When I started on the visit to Boyle's Camp, I said to Dr. Thomas, "if occasion requires my presence on any business, you will act in my capacity as Chairman of the Commission," and as Acting Chairman of the Commission, he made this arrangement and so notified me. I protested against the meeting, but subsequently yielded to the opinions of Gen. Canby and Dr. Thomas. Mr. Dyar and I dissented but yielded to their judgment and consented that the meeting should take place. Before starting, Mr. Riddle, our interpreter, asked for an interview with the Board, which was granted. He remarked that he thought there was great danger in going, and that he wanted to be clear of the responsibility; that he and his wife had lived together 12 years, and she had never deceived him; that he believed those Indians meant treachery. This statement was made in the presence of General Gillem, Dr. Thomas, Mr. Dyar and myself, Gen. Canby being at the tent door, but not in hearing. After Mr. Riddle retired, Gen. Canby expressed his doubts about danger. Dr. Thomas said he was still willing to go. The subject matter of Mr. Riddle's communication was given to Gen. Canby by myself before starting to the Lava Beds. General Canby's opinion of his reply was pretty nearly these words, "I think there is no danger; although I have no more confidence in these Indians than you have, I think them capable of it, but they dare not do it. It is not to their interest." With this assurance and the confidence I had in Gen. Canby, I gave a reluctant assent to the meeting on my part, and Mr. Dyar, as I then understood, did also. Gen. Canby and Dr. Thomas started afoot and alone. Going past the tent occupied by the Peace Commission, at the door of the tent, Mrs. Riddle was holding my horse; she protested against the meeting; said that there was danger, or something of that kind. Mr. Dyar had remarked, too, that he thought there was danger. I called to General Canby and Dr. Thomas, who had gone past the tent occupied by the Commission, perhaps a hundred yards, and they waited until I approached them. We had another conversation on the subject, Gen. Canby saying to me to allay my fear, that I was unusually cautious; that with the disposition of troops these Indians dare not do it; and repeated to me again that he had no more confidence in them than I had, but that it could not be to their interest, that they did not dare to do it, that Col. Mason was only a short distance from their stronghold, and before they could get back into their camp Col. Mason's force could be put into the stronghold on to them, that he had had the road watched from the signal station with a glass since daylight this morning—that was the morning of the 11th—that there were but five Indians there, and they were apparently unarmed: that I should allay my fears, for he had none under the circumstances, or pretty near to that effect.

Q.—Do I understand you to say that this meeting was brought about by a message from Captain Jack?

A.—From Captain Jack. It was arranged by Dr. Thomas, with consent of General Canby, by a messenger sent by Captain Jack (Boston), who remained over night in the camp. Dr. Thomas didn't believe there was danger; he told me so. He thought there would be no danger. General Canby's opinion seemed to be pretty nearly hit—that he felt he was in the [illegible] duty, that he was serving God, that if God required [illegible] ready; that he was going, at all events. [illegible] proposition that, if the meeting must take place, armed, and that John Fairchild be allowed to go along; that I was willing to go with John Fairchild, armed, and myself armed, if no one else was. Dr. Thomas strenuously opposed this, because it would be a breach of compact. I insisted that I knew these people better than he did, that they would not keep their part of the compact, that they would be armed, and that there would be more than five of them. The Doctor again replied in a very religious way, that it was a matter belonging to God; that we would keep our part of the compact, and trust to Him. I made one further proposition—I remember it distinctly—that if, when we arrived on the ground, things looked suspicious, I would give them any promise in the world rather than that they should have my life or theirs. Dr. Thomas said, "I will be a party to no deception under any circumstances. The matter is in the hands of God." General Canby said: "I have dealt with Indians for thirty years, and I have never deceived an Indian, and I will not consent to it—to any promise that cannot be fulfilled." I abandoned all idea of persuading or dissuading them from going, and I went again to the Commission tent, where Mr. Dyar was saddling his horse. John Fairchild and Mrs. Riddle were there. Mr. Riddle was, I think, preparing my horse to ride; and Bogus Charley was there. I asked Fairchild what he thought of the situation, and, without giving any definite answer, he said that he would talk to Bogus Charley; that he could not tell by his talk whether there was danger or not. He had the talk with Bogus Charley, and came back and said that there could not be danger, from the way that Bogus talked, that Bogus assured him there was no danger.

Q.—You then went to the peace tent?

A.—Yes, sir. There are one or two other points; after that talk with Bogus, Mr. Fairchild and I had another conversation in which we agreed exactly, we still thought there was danger, I remarked to Mr. Dyer that I saw no reason why he was in honor bound to go; as Chairman of this Commission my honor compelled me to go, that I was not willing to have General Canby and Dr. Thomas go alone. I remember Mr. Dyer's reply was: "if I went he was going too." I then gave what money I had to Mr. Fairchild and Mr. Dyer did the same, and we started, perhaps [illegible]0 yards behind Dr. Thomas and General Canby, Mr. Dyar and Mrs. Riddle riding on horseback. I was on horseback. Mr. Riddle was on foot. Bogus Charley started with us, but I don't think he went all the way out with us. It is my impression that he did not. We went a longer route in going to the council tent than General Canby and Dr. Thomas did, requiring several minutes more to make the journey. When we arrived at the council tent Boston had already arrived, and I think Bogus was ahead of us, also, making several other Indians who were there present and visible. They were all smoking—all smoking except Dr. Thomas, who never smoked. They were smoking the cigars which General Canby had carried out. There had been a little fire built 15 or 20 feet from the council tent and on the side directly opposite from our camp. Gen. Canby and Dr. Thomas were standing nearest to the tent when we arrived—nearer than the Indians and were around this little fire, which had nearly burned out. My recollection is there were either stones there naturally, or there had been some stones placed around in a kind of half circle. Before dismounting from my horse, I had taken my overcoat off, laying it on the horn of the saddle in front of me. Mr. Dyar rode on to the east side of the fire and dismounted. When we got ready for the talk, we sat down around this fire, General Canby facing Schonchin John, they two being nearest to the tent. Captain Jack sat next to Schonchin John, and there were other Indians next to Captain Jack, but I cannot say who, now. I can only define positively the position of Captain Jack and Schonchin; that I sat next to General Canby, on his left; that Dr. Thomas sat down on the ground, not on a stone, a little behind me, and to my left. Mrs. Riddle sat down or lay down on the ground very close to Dr. Thomas, a little in front of him. Mr. Riddle, a portion of the time, was between Dr. Thomas and Mrs. Riddle, but after we had been talking a few minutes some of the Indians discovered a man approaching from the camp, and at my request, Mr. Dyar mounted his horse and rode out to meet the man, and sent him back. On Dyar's return to the council he dismounted from his horse on the side of the fire occupied by the Indians, to the right, properly speaking, of General Canby and a little behind my horse. We had been talking about fifteen minutes, when Hooker Jim went to my horse, calling him by name, and tied the rope to a rock or a little sage brush grub, went to the saddle and took my overcoat off, put it on, buttoned it up from bottom to top, and said that he was Meacham, or that he would be Meacham, and turned to Bogus Charley and asked him if he didn't look like "old man Meacham."

Q.—He said he was or would be?

A.—Yes sir. I cannot answer which way he said it, one way or the other. I know that he asked Bogus Charley if he looked like old Machemas, as I think the Modocs call me.

Q.—Did he say it in English?

A.—Yes, sir, that it was, in my judgment, a declaratory one, and sufficient evidence of what was coming. I sought to get a glance at Gen. Canby's face, and I am confident, although no words passed, that General Canby understood the act or knew what it meant. I think we talked fifteen or twenty minutes after that before any other demonstration was made of a hostile character. Dr. Thomas had already made a very conciliating and religious speech to the Indians, General Canby a very friendly one, and Jack had finished talking, said he had talked all he wished. Schonchin John was making a speech while Riddle was interpreting. After Schonchin John had finished his speech or made a statement or declaration, and while Riddle was interpreting it, off on our left, and pretty near in range of where we were sitting, two men, who I did not recognize, jumped up from ambush with one or more guns under each arm.

Q.—Mr. Meacham, can you not tell the Commission what General Canby said to the Indians?

A.—I have a pretty good recollection of it, the substance I know exactly. After this demonstration of Hooker Jim—the taking off the coat—fully appreciating the peril we were in, I asked General Canby if he had any remarks to make, partly for an opportunity to look him in the face, and partly to see whether he could not say something to avert the peril. General Canby rose to his feet to talk, and said, in substance, that when he was a very young officer in the army he was detailed to remove the different tribes of Indians—one from Florida, and one from other point of the Southeast—to west of the Mississippi river; that at first they had not liked him very well; but after they got acquainted with him they liked him so well that they elected him chief among them. He then gave the name that each tribe had given him—one designating a tall man or chief, and the other the Indian's friend—giving the Indian word. That, years after they were located in their new home, he visited these people and found them prosperous and happy, that they came a long way to shake hands with him as a friend and brother; that he had no idea but what the Modocs would some time or other recognize him as a friend when they were located in a home, that as he [illegible] a greater portion of it, had been spent in the United States army in the Indian service, that he had never deceived them, but had [illegible] came there at the request of the President of the United States; that the President had ordered the troops here, and that they could only be removed by the President's orders, that they were only here for the purpose of seeing that the Commission did their duty, and performed what they agreed to do, that these people should do—addressing them—what they agreed to and that the citizens should not interfere, that unless the President ordered it he (General Canby) could not take the soldiers away. This is a synopsis of the General's speech. After General Canby had spoken I turned again to Dr. Thomas. He was a little behind me. The doctor, in raising forward, came upon his knees, and laid his right hand upon my left shoulder, bringing him nearly even with me. In this position, on his knees, with his hand on my shoulder, he was close to me. He said: "I think the Great Spirit put it into the heart of the President to send us here. I have known General Canby for fourteen years. I have known Mr. Dyar for a few years, and Mr. Meacham for eight years, and I know their hearts, and I know my own heart. I believe God sees what we do; that He wishes us all to be at peace; that no more blood should be shed." That is the substance. There are other little things, but they were immaterial.

Q.—Well, Mr. Meacham, what did the Indian say?

A.—The substance of Jack's speech was that he wanted the soldiers taken away. That was the main point. Schonchin John's speech was that he wanted Fairchild's ranch or Hot creek. Those were the main points.

Q.—Then what came? The reply was that the President had sent the soldiers there, that they could not be taken away without his consent. I think I said that myself and that General Canby repeated it; that they were sent by the President and could not be removed without his consent; Schonchin John said he was willing to accept Hot creek for a home. He had been informed that he could have that place. He was asked who told you you could have it? Did Fairchild or Dorris? He replied, they did not, but from other sources, he learned he could have that place then. Schonchin said unless the soldiers were taken away and you give us Hot Creek or Fairchild's ranch, we don't want to talk any more. The interpreter had partially rendered the speech of Schonchin John's when the two men sprang up. When the men came in sight we all rose to our feet except Mr. Riddle, who I think threw himself flat on the ground. While Schonchin was talking Captain Jack had risen and turned his back and was walking off a few steps, perhaps behind Mr. Dyar's horse or towards it. He was coming again toward the circle at the time the Indians rose up. He was rather facing it. When the Indians made their appearance, I asked Captain Jack the question, "What does this mean?" but he made no reply to me; directly he put his right hand under his left breast pocket and drew his pistol, and snap out some word in Indian that I did not then understand.

Mr. Meacham told the story of the tragedy at great length.

The Voudou Festival in New Orleans.

A correspondent of the New York World, who witnessed the ceremonies of this Festival, writes under date of June 24th:

Last night the annual Voudou Festival of the negroes was held along the borders of the Bayou St. John and the Old Lake. A more disgusting sight it has never been my lot to witness. An immense number of men and women congregated in the evening at particular places, and at a given signal they all divested themselves of their clothes to actual nakedness. Bonfires were built along the shores of the lake, and the whole appearance was such as would almost strike terror into a stout heart. The horrid orgies were inaugurated by one wild, unearthly yell, in which all the assembled crew joined their voices, and for a moment afterwards there was a general silence. The "worshippers of the [illegible]" then contemplated their naked forms, upon which the fire shone with ghastly effect, and with a hideous yell they began to dance around the fires, singing weird songs and occasionally bursting forth into a wild and piercing laugh. The songs that they sung could not be identified with any living language, but seemed to be a communion of languages, as, occasionally, you would be able to distinguish genuine English words, German and French. Around these bonfires they kept revolving with joined hands for over an hour and a half without ceasing, uttering their horrid yells and singing their wild unearthly songs. On all occasions a woman presides over these orgies, under the name of "Queen of the Voudou," and when they cease dancing round the fires they go forward and make their submission at Her Majesty's feet, who is usually seated on an elevated mound or a large rock. This queen retains her title and dignity during life, provided she conducts things with a proper grace, and she is usually chosen out of the most socially elevated class of negroes in the locality. On this occasion the old queen, Marie Lavody, did not attend on account of illness, and her emblem of power, a garland of flowers bound round the head, was worn by one Mammy Caroline, who has already been named and acknowledged as the successor to the queenly dignity. After the first part of the performance was over, Queen Caroline held her court in an old house on the banks of the bayou, where she shone forth in all the resplendence of her nude beauty. I saw with regret, that these degrading orgies were participated in by a young white girl, about eighteen years of age, and possessed of more than ordinary beauty. This hideous revel was prolonged till a late hour at night, but its sickening and disgusting character forbids me entering into more minute details. Imagine several hundred negroes in an Adamite condition, dancing, yelling, and singing all night around the innumerable bonfires that were lighted on the banks of the bayou.

A Ferocious Wild Cat.

This comes from San Luis Obispo—that famous little town in Southern California, which is noted for one or two things besides wild-cats:

"We learn that an unusual and very exciting contest took place at the ranch of Ramon Feliz, on Morro Creek, about fourteen miles from this place, one morning last week. It seems that Feliz, shortly after getting up in the morning, went out to feed his stock, and that soon after he was startled by the cries of his wife and family. Running to the house, he found that a large wild cat had seized his youngest child, an infant, by the back of the neck and was making off with it. After a severe struggle, he succeeded in rescuing it, the cat making its escape. Some time after the excitement had subsided, an Indian boy, about eighteen years old, went out to bring in some horses that had been staked out over night some distance from the house. He had been gone but a few minutes when the family was again aroused by the cries of the boy, who came rushing toward the house yelling like a madman, with the identical cat that had caused the first disturbance firmly seated upon his back, with his teeth embedded in the back of his neck. Another desperate battle ensued, which resulted in favor of the cat, which successfully cleaned out the dogs, and retreated in good order to the house of E. M. Howe, under which he ensconced himself, defying all efforts to dislodge him until night, when he escaped unscathed. The wounds received by the Indian boy were quite severe, and the good people, fearing that the cat was mad, thought best to scarify the wounds, which they did by heating a crowbar, the only implement on the premises that would answer the purpose. We understand that, considering the ordeal of scratching, biting and singeing through which the boy passed through, he is doing remarkably well, and will be all right again in a few weeks."

Oh, what it is to be a lawyer's clerk! Owing to the acuteness learned in this high position, a young Englishman been actually enabled to escape unscathed from that dangerous affair, a breach of promise suit. He had paid his addresses chiefly by letter, and in the most tender and poetic strain, to a pretty girl, who when his affections grew less, was too prudent and energetic not to demand golden comfort for her wounded heart. Her lawyer heard her case with pleasant anticipations of damages, but alas! when he examined the love-letters of the lawyer's clerk he found his client was put by them entirely out of court. The ingenious young man had invariably signed himself, "Believe me, my own dearest, divinest, duckiest Angelina, your fondest, most devoted (but without prejudice), Tommy." The legal phraze, which the gentle

EASTERN STATES

A Fearful Crime.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—A most horrible murder has just come to light in Jennersville, Chester county, one mile north of the line of the Baltimore Central Railroad. On the 13th of June last a strange man arrived at a hotel in the village, saying he came from Baltimore and was an agent, but gave no name. He was in appearance a young man not over thirty, with black whiskers. On the following day a team driven by Wm. E. Uddersook stopped at the tavern and the agent and Uddersook went away together. The team had been hired by Uddersook at Parkersburg and when he returned it in the evening the person who took charge of it remarked that there was blood on the wagon. Uddersook made a plausible explanation of the circumstance and immediately left the neighborhood. The strange man was never seen after that. On Friday last a large number of buzzards were noticed hovering about the woods near Newport and Grayville. Investigation showed the head and trunk of a man with arms and legs detached, which was recognized as the body of the stranger who had been stopping at Jennersville. The murdered man was stabbed in three or four places, his throat was cut, and both arms and legs were severed close to the body. The object of murder unquestionably was plunder. No clothes were found except a pair of shoes. It is reported that the man was known to have had considerable money on his person. The severed limbs were buried in a separate place from the body and not far from the house of one Rhodes, a brother-in-law of the supposed murderer.

Our Regular Murder.

CHICAGO, July 14.—At Keokuk, Iowa, Saturday night, Dennis Reeves and his wife quarreled, when the latter, assisted by her son by a former husband, a boy of sixteen years, beat Dennis to death with a potato masher. The mother and son are in jail.

Preparations for Another Cable.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The following telegram has been received at the office of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company:

The steamers Kangaroo and Edinburgh arrived at Placentia, Newfoundland, on Sunday morning, with cable on board for two lines between that place and Sydney, Cape Breton. The Edinburgh came into collision with an iceberg, during a dense fog, off Cape Breton, and had her bow gear damaged, but the ship was not much injured.

Gossip about the Brooklyn Murderess.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Great interest is manifested in the case of Lizzie Lloyd King, alias Kate Stoddard. Crowds flock to the jail on Raymond street to see her, but very few are successful. She is dumb on the subject of the murder, and will not talk except to her counsel, and for him she is writing a full statement of her case and her history from childhood. She is 26 years of age. Her father's name is Isaac King. He is still alive, and [illegible] on the trade of a mason. She has one sister, named Augusta, who is married, and living in Walbridge, [illegible] chusetts. The family is in comfortable circumstances. So far as the tragedy is concerned, while in moderately good spirits, she does not take a very sanguine view of the issue. The State Prison seems to hang over her mind like an ominous shadow. Among her other peculiarities she is pretending to be very religious, and is reading the Bible and Episcopal prayer-book constantly. It is said she even had the temerity to attend the funeral of her victim, that she went up near the hearse and touched the coffin. The police are still on the lookout for Roscoe. Kate Stoddard declares she does not know, and has never seen him, while the woman Armstrong is positive she saw them together. One of the jurors hinted yesterday that there is a good deal more in this Goodrich tragedy than is yet given to the public, and added that there is an important link still wanting.

An injunction was yesterday served on the Atlantic and Pacific Railway Company, restraining it from paying dividends due to-day on the stock of the Pacific railroad of Missouri, which road it has leased in perpetuity. Thirty-six trunks and cases belonging to Thos. C. Durant, Ex-President of the Union Pacific railroad, and one of the Credit Mobilier defendants, were released from custody yesterday on a bond being given for their appraised value. It required three large trucks to remove the goods from the Custom House to the owner's mansion in Brooklyn.

Drowned.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Ex-Senator T. S. Mails, President of the Brooklyn Trust Company, was drowned this morning while bathing at Coney Island.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company in a Tight Place.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company have authorized a settlement with the Union Pacific Railroad, and that the steamship Montana be sold for $80,000; also, that some of the steamers plying between New York and Aspinwall be sold. These steamers will probably bring about $30,000 each. It was also authorized to borrow $700,000 on the company's real estate in San Francisco, to meet immediate wants. Following are the debts of the company which have to be met immediately: $120,000 for city taxes in New York; $100,000 for engines building in Scotland, and $650,000 to M. R. Roche, for steamers now constructing. The company require about $6[illegible]0,000 to put their steamers in seaworthy condition.

Japanese Students Recalled.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—The Government of Japan has sent orders for the return of five of the six students sent to this country by a company in Osaka, Japan, who have been here the past two years. Of these five, Menufer and Sata are at Trenton, N. J., T. Kiesch is at Philadelphia, H. Okomoto is at Bridgeport, Conn., and R. Wakita is at Rinebeck; the sixth is permitted to remain at Lawrenceville, N. J. The five mentioned are now in this city, and have purchased tickets to Japan. They will start homeward next week by rail to San Francisco. None of them know why they have been recalled, and all hopeful that they will be allowed to return in a few months.

Shah Reuter.

Something over fifty years ago there was born in a petty German State, an infant. His name was Reuter. He is alive to-day, and one of the most startling incidents in his existence, will be found recorded on our fourth page. This man began life as a bank clerk in Gottingen. In 1849, he was first heard of by the world as a publisher of lithographic newspaper correspondence in Paris. In 1858, he was complete and undisputed master of the telegraphic news service of Europe. From every telegraph and steamship line as it came into existence, he obtained the most liberal and exclusive concessions, and to-day the press of the world is dependent on Reuter for its news. With carrier-pigeon, and steam-packet, with man, horse and every available natural force that could be made to carry the world's intelligence, he has builded the immense monopoly that has an agent in every city on the Continent of Europe.

It is to this potentate of London that the Shah has transferred the sceptre of Persia. The concession which we print to-day gives to Reuter the exclusive privilege of building a railway between the Caspian and the Persian Gulf, as well as any other railways he may think fit. He may appropriate the Government land needed in the work, without the payment of a dime; the stone, gravel, sand, etc., are to be furnished gratis; all the material imported is to be free from duty or tax of any kind whatsoever; any mine situate on government land (with the exception of gold, silver and precious stone), may be appropriated by the concessionaire free of charge, his sole obligation being to hand over to the Government 15 per cent. of the net proceeds. Banks, gas companies, road, telegraph, mill, manufacturing, pavement and forge companies, must first come to Reuter for royal permission, before their enterprises can be begun. Even the postoffices and custom-houses of Persia are to be subject to this insatiable commercial despot. And in addition to all this, after this road of 400 miles has been constructed, the Shah guarantees the payment of seven per cent.—five per cent. for interest, and two per cent. for sinking fund—on a loan of $30,000,000, which the enterprising Reuter will be permitted to borrow from anybody who will lend it to him. Of course, with all these magnificent gifts, there remains the possibility that some fine morning the Shah, or some one of his fine successors, will rise to gaze with glistening eyes on Naboth Reuter's vineyard. In which event the magnificent concession will be worth as much as the parchment [illegible] however, Baron Julius de Reuter is Shah of Persia, and Nasr-ed-deen is his walking advertisement.

A friend having called our attention to the minority report of the House Judiciary Committee on the woman suffrage question, signed by Ben. Butler and Judge Loughridge, we have examined the document and acknowledge that we were incorrect in supposing Butler would not give an opinion that the Constitutional amendments conferred the right of suffrage on women. He attempts to maintain that doctrine, and makes out the best case probably that can be made. We think we were correct, however, in stating that in his adverse decision Judge Hunt is sustained by a current of legal opinion so nearly unbroken that it may be called a unanimous opinion of the bar. Butler is a politician-lawyer at best, and has made his reputation in the manner of such, and the other man has no very extensive reputation. He is simply an average specimen of the undistinguished Congressman; but very likely he is the better of the two for all that.

One of Holladay's menservants sent us a day or two ago a long letter over his initials, "J. G."—he ought to have added "P" for President, to make it the regular conventional J. G. whom we all know so well—devoted mainly to puffing his master, and misrepresenting other people. We did not care to become the organ of the played-out railway caravan, and consequently declined to publish the fulsome effusion, whereupon the pen-writing manservant rushed into the Bulletin with his letter, with a great flourish about our refusing it. We cannot but admire the cunning of master or man, whichever it was that devised the scheme of getting this puff into the OREGONIAN where it would be read by large number of persons, but they ought to have known better than to suppose we could be caught by a device so extremely thin.

At last the Pacific Christian Advocate has expressed itself upon the disclosures that have been made in regard to the past life of Senator Hipple. Its voice is what ought to be expected of every religious and moral journal that pretends to have anything to say upon this subject—and there is no way for a religious journal to remain silent. This is very different from the loose and licentious code preached by the editor of the Albany Register. It is a happy thing for the Methodist Church that its spokesman is Dr. Dillon, and not the Register man, and it is equally fortunate that the latter ceased to be an active Methodist preacher before he became a theoretical bigamist.

Marshal (President) McMahon has rather queer ideas on the subject of liberty, which, from the circumstances, time and country in which they are uttered, are liable to call to mind Madame Roland's famous exclamation. For instance, the new Prefect of the Rhone having prohibited the sale of newspapers in the streets of Lyons, and civil burials from taking place after 7, A. M., he has now suspended the Petit Lyonnais for two months, La France Republicaine for an indefinite period, and has ordered the prosecution of the Progres de Lyon for the perpetration of what the French people generally believe to be an innocent joke.

The mortality among Congressmen is getting to be noteworthy. Of the members of the Forty-third Congress three have already died. These are: James Brooks of New York, William Whiting of Massachusetts, and our own lamented Wilson. We say nothing of the politically dead of the Forty-second Congress Their name is legion.

A Gigantic Enterprise.

Next in point of magnificence to the schemes of the great German monopolist who has obtained absolute control of the entire Persian Government, is the enterprise set on foot to build a system of railways reaching into every section of the Chinese Empire. The promoters of this scheme, a number of English capitalists, have been holding meetings of late for the purpose of canvassing the matter, and have been assured that it will not be difficult to obtain from the Chinese Government the necessary franchises to construct a net-work of railways throughout that empire, provided a section of a few miles is built before the concessions are finally made, as a pledge of the good faith of the proposition. The means to construct this test section have been raised, and enough is pledged to push the entire system forward with the utmost rapidity as soon as the necessary grants are made secure beyond recall. The committee having the matter of raising the funds and fully organizing the project, are to be called together by the Lord Mayor of London as soon as the conditions of further action are met.

The magnitude of this enterprise, considered simply as an auxiliary to British commerce with India, as that has been carried on heretofore, cannot be over-estimated. The untold wealth of that oldest of civilized nations, would pour into the British ships from all the accumulated hoards of the interior, adding millions annually to the already rich trade of the East. But when we consider also the fact that English enterprise is pushing forward a railway to connect the Mediterranean with the Persian Gulf, and Reuter's railways in Southern India, we behold the prospect of the speedy opening of direct and speedy communication between the western countries and all the populous districts of Southern and Central Asia. Christian civilization, after nearly two thousand years of traveling from the east to the west, is going from the west back to the east, supplanting the superstition of paganism, liberalizing the mind of nations that have long wandered in darkness, and infusing new life into them. The telegraph, the railway, the printing press, these are the missionaries of an irresistible gospel.

That Mislaid Letter.

We received yesterday a letter from a friend at Salem, a member of the College Base Ball Club, who thinks the letter of "Pioneer" in Saturday's OREGONIAN did great injustice to the College Club. We laid the letter aside for the time being, and so carefully, as the sequel has proved, that we were unable to find it again. The points stated by our correspondent, as well as we can recollect them, were:

1st—That it was not true that the Pioneers were unacquainted with the Base Ball grounds at Oregon City, a majority of their first nine having played several times on these grounds.

2d—That it is not true that there are no conveniences for playing at Canby, there being, on the contrary, good grounds, and all other conveniences at that place.

3d—That if the Pioneers could not go to Canby on account of some of their players being hors du combat, there must have been some miraculous cures effected in that one day, as they played the Clackamas next [illegible]

These are all the points we recollect, though there may have been others. We are truly sorry to have mislaid the letter and have endeavored to make the best reparation possible by publishing its substance. If our College friend will excuse us this time we promise to do better next.

The Albany (N. Y.) Journal says "the French Assembly is as obsequious as the French Government is reactionary." It might as well have said the Government is as obsequious as the Assembly is reactionary. The reactionary Government is the creation of the Assembly, was "put up" for the purpose of being reactionary, and could secure the support of the majority of the Assembly only by being reactionary. The Assembly can well afford to submit to the Government, when that is only a reflection of its own will. This being obsequious is not much of a trial, when one's master is only one's self in another form.

It is sometimes a little strange the excess in which zealous reformers indulge. There is a farmers' club in a little town in Illinois, which recently passed a resolution denouncing the gifts of a punch-bowl, a candelabrum and a pair of wine-coolers to the foreign arbitrators at the Geneva Conference, as "an outrage against the temperance sentiments of the nation and an insult to the distinguished gentlemen themselves." We observe meanwhile that Staempfli and d'Itajuba have a queer way of resenting such insults. We apprehend, too, that the aforesaid farmers' club is about the only one that is really aggrieved.

Dr. Chapman, Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee of the State, comes out from among his political associates, publishes his conversion to sound principles, and leaves the Democracy without a head. The appointment of Geo. E. Cole, Postmaster of this city deprived it of its tail, and its body is as dead as a door nail, or a coffin nail either.

A New York dispatch of recent date states that in all probability "Sunset" Cox will succeed Hon. James Brooks, deceased. Mr. Cox is a man of fine ability, a brilliant debater, and if the Eighth District of New York must be represented in Congress by a Democrat, we know of no better choice than the vivid Cox.

Dispatches state that a violent revolution is threatened in the State of Jalisco, Mexico, on account of the collection of back taxes. An equally efficient, though not violent, revolution is threatened in the United States on account of the taking of back pay.

Susan B. Anthony paid $100 for the privilege of casting a vote. There are hundreds of men who have not the thousandth part of her fitness to exercise the elective franchise, and who get paid for voting instead of paying for the privilege.

Tammany had a very quiet little celebration in New York City, on the Fourth. Augustus Schell made a brief address and Hon. Clarkson N. Potter delivered the oration.

SUICIDE OF A BOY.—The suicide of Henry P. Walker, 14 years of age, at Worcester, Mass., recently, was a singular one. The grandfather of the boy, Timothy Bancroft, had some misunderstanding with him about watering the plants, and told him to go into the corn-barn and stay there. His uncle saw him afterward with a rope, and, asking him what he was going to do with it, the reply was that he was going to make a swing with it. Some little time after, the grandfather, going to the barn, found the boy on his knees, with his neck in a noose, strangled. Mr. Bancroft, being feeble, found some difficulty in releasing the boy, who gasped once or twice and then died. The boy had his hands under under the rope, as if he had tried to release himself, but had not the strength. He had a high temper, but it is not believed he he meant meant to do more than frighten the family

The Course of Senator Mitchell.

The Evening News of this city animadverts with severity upon an editorial in the Albany Register which appears to defend, in a measure, the course of life pursued by Senator Mitchell. The editor of the Register, it seems, is a minister of the M. E. Church, and hence the Evening News, as well as the States Rights Democrat, calls attention to the following question

Can the Methodist Church of Oregon—of which our reverend neighbor is an ordained mouth piece—afford to uphold this man Mitchell in his great offences against Christianity, and thus place itself upon the record as the defender of those crimes which the Bible plainly indicates?

If the Register designed to uphold Mr. Mitchell in any wrong doing, it has greatly erred in our judgment, but the M. E. Church is in no wise responsible for it. Our Church, as such, had nothing whatever to do with the election of Mr. Mitchell to the United States Senate, and does not propose to uphold him or any other man, in offences, great or small, committed in public or private, against God or man. We admitted to our columns the statement of Senator Mitchell, addressed as it was to the people of Oregon, and did not know at that time but that it was a complete answer to all the allegations made against him. We are sorry to find it was not so. But on dropping the subject, the details of which we did not deem suitable for our columns, we had no idea that our silence would be misconstrued into the remotest disposition, on the part of the Church, to support or countenance crimes which the Word of God condemns. No shade of such disposition exists. The ugly facts in the past history of Senator Mitchell have been brought to light, and Heaven itself cannot undo, although it may pardon them. No sane man can approve of his past course. But it is not our province, as a Christian journalist, to pursue any man in his misdemeanors an inch further than his own good, or that of the public demands. The duty of every transgressor is to forsake his sins, make the amende honorable to his fellowmen, right or wrong, commence a virtuous life in all respects and seek in Jesus Christ for relief from the pressing burden of sin. Then, whether ever restored to the lost favor of man or not, he will have the mercy and favor of God which will prove far better than life itself.

What portentious lessons have been passing of late years before the youth of our nation! In black and white have they almost daily been taught that without virtue and morality, no position of safety or honor can be long enjoyed in this life: and that without the faith, and faithful practice of our holy christianity, there can be no hope of happiness in the world to come. Will the youth of our land heed these lessons? Will they receive warning in time to avoid the hidden rocks of sin and iniquity on which so many have wrecked their precious hopes for time and eternity? We hope so.—Pacific Christian Advocate.

OREGON.

Wallowa wool in large quantities has been disposed of lately in La Grande.

A large number of headers, threshers and mowers are at work in Eastern Oregon.

One Marion county farmer had 150 tons of hay lying in the field when the late rains came. Much of it will doubtless be lost.

There is a shoemaker in Brownsville who wants a boot tree planted over his grave when he pegs out, to show that awl is over.

An Indian, supposed to be the same who burglarized a house at Pendleton some time ago, was caught at Walla Walla last week.

The Pacific Bridge Company is hauling timbers to be used in the construction of the bridge across the Clackamas river this side of Oregon City.

A pack train of 25 animals was loaded at Weston on the 5th [illegible] Granite Creek. This was the first train loaded at that place.

The stockholders in the patent candlestick invented by A. E. Rogers, of Union county are happy over the fact that the patentee was offered $25,000 for the entire right.

Elk, deer, black and grizzly bear, Oregon cougar or California lion, with numerous small game and swan, geese, ducks, grouse, pheasants and quail, are the principal game of Clatsop county.

The Umatilla Indians were gaily dressed and presented a wildly, romantic appearance as they filed through the streets of La Grande on horse back and sang their favorite song, on the Fourth.

Salem has a burglar whose strong suit is "grub." The citizens are willing to feed him rather than have their slumbers disturbed by his raids into their houses by night, if he will make himself known.

Mr. Jas. W. Walker, Chairman of the Washington County, Nehalem Valley and Astoria Wagon Road Commissioners, writes to the Astorian and says all the warrants have been sold by order of the Board, that have been sold at all.

From a letter received from a valued correspondent at Eldorado, the Sentinel learns that on the 3d of July a break occurred on the Burnt river ditch, about 30 miles from Eldorado. Mr. Johnson, Superintendent of the ditch, immediately secured assistance and reached the break at midnight. On arriving at the spot it was found that about 30 feet of an embankment was washed away. By daylight the break had been repaired and 800 inches of water again sped its way on to the Eldorado mining camp for the use of the miners.

The La Grande Sentinel says: "F. Shoemaker this week disposed of his clip of wool to Sommer & Baer. At our request he gives the following facts and figures: Total number of sheep sheared, 271; total amount of wool, 1,772 pounds, which averages a trifle over six and a half pounds to the sheep. Out of the 471 sheep 141 were old sheep, and the balance (131) were only one year old. He had one yearling that clipped 11½ pounds, one that clipped 11¾, and one buck two years old that clipped 13½ pounds. The lambs were sired by a Leicester and Cotswold buck purchased by Mr. Shoemaker in Yamhill county for $75

THE TERRITORIES.

Not a single arrest was made at Walla Walla by her police force from June 19th to July 10th. Peaceable city that.

James Conlon was caught in the act of furnishing liquor to an Indian near Walla Walla last week. He is in duress.

Rev. A. W. Sweeney, County School Superintendent of Walla Walla, has just made the apportionment of school money for July of this year The sum apportioned is four thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars and ninety three cents.

The Olympia Courier speaks rather disparagingly of the Beacon's "Second city in America," and says that Tacoma will share the fate of Kalama and Duluth, and only serve a temporary purpose of filling the purses of a few greedy speculators, and then give way to a more available rival.

The third annual regatta of the Shoalwater Bay Yacht Club, will take place at Oysterville July 21, 1873, under the auspices of Commodore Johnson and the Regatta Committee. It is believed this will be the most attractive regatta that has ever come off north of San Francisco, as the class of boats, particularly in this regatta, are of the first order.

The Pacific Tribune says O. A. Meigs & Co., of the Port Madison lumbering establishment, have secured a contract to ship from San Francisco to Wilmington, immediately, 6,000 tons of railroad iron, 25,000 ties, and 1,500,000 feet of heavy lumber. Six vessels have started north from San Francisco to take on board 155,000 other ties contracted for. It is probable this contract extends into the future, and that the Port Madison mill will be kept working the next year or two for that railroad.

The Olympia Transcript is informed through a friend recently from San Francisco, that through the enterprise and exertions of Gov. Salomon, a coal company has been formed in San Francisco for the purpose of building a railroad to the Skookum Chuck coal mines. The object and purpose of said company is to work the coal mines in that region, place the coal in the San Francisco market, and inaugurate a line of steam propellers and sailing vessels to transport the same, giving Olympia direct communication with San Francisco.

Mrs. Booker, one of the Claflin sisters, died suddenly on the 9th inst. The Coroner hearing of the case decided to make an examination of the body. Jennie C. Claflin objected, and resisted so tenaciously that the assistance of the police was needed in order that the post mortem might be held. The jury brought in a verdict of death from disease of the kidneys, induced by excessive drinking.

The New York Evening Telegram says: The law under which Rosenzweig the abortionist, was convicted, with its penalty of seven years' imprisonment, was legislated out of existence by the passage of a new law, making malpractice attended with fatal results punishable with death. Rosenzweig has lain for [illegible] in the Tombs awaiting a new trial but has not been re-indicted, and it is believed that he cannot be.

The case of Lord Gordon, whose kidnapping by Western officers was reported by telegraph, excited much comment among the bankers on Wall and Broad streets. Recently efforts had been made to induce Lord Gordon to leave Fort Garry, Canada, and come to the United States. Gordon is said to have defrauded Jay Gould of about $300,000, and it is to recover this money or a portion of it that the suits have been instituted against him.

A little girl, about eleven years old, accompanied by her mother, were both taken prisoners and held hostages by Antonio Morillo, near Capola, eighty miles from Mazatlan, on May 13th. About the 20th ultimo the mother escaped, and the little girl was put to the torture—her face and head were burned fearfully by holding her over the fire. She was rescued by the Government troops before her ransom had been paid. She lies on board the steamer in a very precarious condition, but with hopes of her recovery. The mother, a very handsome woman, attracted a great deal of attention.

A few days ago, a young girl in Minnesota, named Ella White, about fifteen years old, attempted to kindle a fire with kerosene, when the can exploded enveloping her instantly in a sheet of flame. She ran out of the house, shrieking "I am burning to death!" A young man named Woods, with rare presence of mind, catching a blanket from the bed, wrapped her in it, extinguishing the flames but not before the clothing below her waist was completely burned away and her limbs dreadfully burned. Her injuries will prove fatal. The house caught fire at the same time, but it was discovered and extinguished.

A New York dispatch of the 10th inst. says; When Walworth donned the prison uniform at Sing Sing yesterday, he remarked: "I have gained seven pounds in clothes since I came here; I feel now like engaging in a base-ball match. An officer in the army told me the other day that the only difference between this suit and the West Point uniform is, that in one the stripes are round about, and in the other they are up and down." He whiled away the journey to prison by pleasant allusions to events as they happened, and said of the handcuffs which linked him to Gillen, the wife-murderer: "They are the starchiest cuffs I ever wore."

Mr. Bonner has driven different horses to road wagon in the fastest time ever made in that way at all distances from a quarter of a mile to two miles. He has driven Startle a quarter of a mile to road wagon in 33 seconds, which is the fastest time ever made to road wagon for that distance. He has driven Dexter half a mile to road wagon in 1 06¼, which is the fastest half mile to road wagon ever driven, and the same horse a full mile in 2 21¼, which is the fastest full mile to road wagon ever driven. Lady Palmer and Flatbush Maid he drove two miles to road wagon in 5:01¼, and that performance for the same distance has never been equaled.—N. Y. Sun.

The Spanish Government has issued a manifesto declaring that its most imperative duty now is to crush the insurrection which is devastating Catalonia, Navarre, and the Basque Provinces. It is preparing for a supreme effort, and is availing itself of the extraordinary powers granted by the Cortes. It has resolved to insist on an inexorable execution of the laws, and to compel soldiers to remain under their colors until pacification is complete and, moreover, to call out reserves if reinforcements are needed. Castelar and Salmeron have had a conference with the irreconcilable Deputies, to induce them to return to the Cortes, but found it impossible to concede to their demands.

There are serious difficulties in regard to Reuter's concession. Reuter is a million and a half dollars out of pocket. He deposited $250,000 as a guarantee on the contract, and expended an annual sum in bribes to secure the contract. He also loaned the Shah at five per cent one million dollars in money that will never be repaid now. There is a curious intrigue around the Shah to make him cancel the concessions. The Shah was brought out by Reuter to help float his schemes, but other London financiers appeared, and have told the Shah's suite that the concession was worth more than Reuter was paying. Mirza Hasan Ali Khan, Minister of Public Works, is against him, and Reuter would like to sell the concession. In the face of such difficulties it is doubtful if it has any value.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

The Democratic party of the State having, in my judgment, abandoned its principles, and being no longer worthy the confidence or support of the citizens, I hereby resign my position as Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and renounce all further allegiance to the so-called Democratic party, and believing as I do that the Republican party is the true party of progress, and best calculated to promote the welfare of the State and nation, it shall henceforth receive my unqualified support. Very respectfully, yours,

DR. J. A. CHAPMAN.

For Sale,
850,000 Acres of Land
IN SOUTHERN OREGON.
Title Perfect—U. S. Land Grant [illegible]

"THE "PACIFIC LAND COMPANY," INCORPORATED with capital stock of 5,000 shares of par value of $210 each, have purchased the road and entire land grant of the "OREGON CENTRAL MILITARY ROAD COMPANY," consisting of over 850,000 acres of

Agricultural, Grazing & Timber Lands,
Passing from Eugene City (125 miles from Portland by Railroad), through the splendid "Lake Country," to Silver City, near the border of Idaho.

Each share of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY thus representing now over 160 acres of land, and is UNASSESSABLE.

Three thousand shares belong to the Company, and will be offered for sale by us, the entire proceeds of which will go into the Treasury.

The first one thousand shares will be offered at $120 per share, United States Currency say at the rate of 75 cents per acre. Every share will also be received at its par value of $240, in payment for land, as soon as the appraisals are made. Such share will then be cancelled, and not reissued, and a deed given to the purchaser.

The land will be appraised at moderate rates, in accordance with its actual value, as soon as practicable, in sections of 640 acres, and at not less than $1 50 per acre, U S currency, and offered for sale Actual settlers, however, always having preference

We refer, as to the character of this magnificent grant of land, to CLARENCE KING, Esq., the U. S. Geologist for this coast, who is familiar with it from personal observation; also to the elaborate report of the Hon. B. J. Pengra, late surveyor General of Oregon, on this road and lands, from which we quote "There is but very little of the entire grant but what is valuable for either Farming, Grazing or Lumbering purposes"

As shares are cancelled, the average of acres to the remaining shares will naturally increase, and from cash sales dividends will be declared.

IMMIGRANTS,
BY BUYING THESE SHARES, CAN SECURE GOOD LANDS, WITH PERFECT TITLE, AT LESS THAN GOVERNMENT RATES.

For Custodians of Trust Funds, the shares of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY combine absolute security, based on the lands, with promise of large returns; and no investment can be better for CHILDREN, as the value of the property must increase immensely in a few years.

Remittances for shares can be sent to us by Wells, Fargo & Co, or by registered letters

Full particulars maps and a descriptive pamphlet can be obtained at our office, where the subscription book for the shares is now open.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 16, 1873.

CITY.

GROUND PLANS.—We inspected yesterday the plans of the new brick building, the foundation for which has been laid, to be used as an office for Wells, Fargo & Co., and the Western Union Telegraph Company, conjointly. The building is to be constructed at the corner of A and North First streets, triangular in shape, and two stories in hight. According to the plans, the lower story will consist of four rooms. One large room fronting on First street, will be occupied by Wells, Fargo & Co. as an office. The dimensions of this room will be 20x48 feet. It will be used solely as a counting and banking room, and as a general delivery office. A large counter will divide the room about mid way, the counter extending diagonally from one corner to the other. Desks will be arranged around that portion of the room behind the counter, for the accommodation of the various clerks employed. Immediately to the rear of this office is a large open room 27x48 feet, which will be used expressly as a store room. A portion of the southeast corner of the building—first story—also fronting on First street, will be occupied by the telegraph company. This room will be 27x14 feet. Messages will be received at the office and distributed. The operators' rooms will be immediately overhead. A small elevator, worked by the hand, will connect the office below with the operator's room, and will be very convenient in sending up and down the messages, before and after transmission. Just to the rear of the telegraph office is a private office, 12x14 feet, for the chief agent for the express company. Adjoining this private room, and connected by a small doorway, is the room in which will be placed the vault for the safe keeping of coin and valuable papers. In the second story the building is divided in nearly equal parts, each to be occupied respectively by the two companies. Fronting the east will be four large, airy rooms, that are to be used by the telegraph company as offices, operating rooms, store rooms, and a place to keep the batteries and the necessary [illegible]. The rear portion of the building, fronting the west, will be used by the express company. This portion of the second story will be divided into two parlors and six bed rooms. These rooms are for the express use of the agent, and attaches connected with the express. In the general plan and arrangement of the building there has been a very judicious distribution of light, and the important question of [illegible] has not been neglected by the architect, Mr. W. W. Piper. The offices on the first floor are well situated as regards light, having almost one continuous row of large windows. At present work on the building has been suspended, on account of scarcity of brick. [illegible] brick will be obtained in a few days, [illegible] masonry work be resumed. With ordinary [illegible], it is expected that the new building will be finished, and the offices ready for occupancy by the 15th of September.

A [illegible] VESSEL.—One of the largest as well as [illegible] ships that has yet touched at this port is the English ship Middlesex, now lying at Mc[illegible] wharf discharging ballast. This vessel is in command of Capt. Massey, and was built in Sunderland in the year 1861. Her dimensions: length over all, 223 feet; beam, 37.2 [illegible], 24 feet. She has a registered capacity of [illegible] tons. The Middlesex was built expressly for the transportation of troops from Liverpool [illegible]. She is built very staunchly, and [illegible] superior passenger accommodations. As [illegible] she has but few superiors. For [illegible] the Middlesex has been engaged in the [illegible] Australia line. Coal constituted [illegible] New South Wales to San Francisco [illegible] this port from the latter on [illegible] the mouth of the river in [illegible] San Francisco this vessel [illegible]. She is under charter to Messrs. [illegible] to carry to Europe a cargo of [illegible].

[illegible].—The ship Confidence arrived [illegible] from San Francisco, yesterday morning [illegible] brought up the river to Portland [illegible] Astoria. The Confidence [illegible] on the 18th ult. After experiencing [illegible] and head winds, the [illegible] the bar and was towed over. [illegible] until her arrival at this [illegible] nearly one month; but [illegible] unable to adverse winds. [illegible] in 1857, at Bath, Maine. [illegible] she was engaged in the New [illegible] brought a miscellaneous [illegible]. Her cargo to [illegible] by in stone and salt. This [illegible] to carry a load of wheat to [illegible] will commence to discharge [illegible] in a few days will be ready to receive [illegible].

A [illegible] BIRD.—A [illegible] up street having [illegible] a [illegible] canary from a [illegible] three young birds, but a few days old, [illegible] placed in the same cage another female [illegible] by way of experiment to witness the action [illegible] the bird. Judge of his surprise when the [illegible] canary, instead of pouncing down on the [illegible] as is generally the case, began to [illegible] the utmost affection for the [illegible] committed to its mercy. It had not been in the cage but a few minutes when it [illegible] to carry food in its beak and to feed the young birds, [illegible] with the utmost [illegible] love and solicitude. The little [illegible] appeared to [illegible] so much affection for [illegible] that the [illegible] kindly al[illegible]. It is still watching and [illegible] to the wants of the brood committed to its care, to the entire exclusion of the real [illegible].

AWARDED.—We [illegible] by the Hartford (Conn.) Times that at the recent commencement [illegible] held at Trinity College, in that State, a prize was awarded Mr. Wm. Walthrop Stark, of New London, for the [illegible] in Fenelon's "Traite de l'Existence de Dieu." This young [illegible] is a son of the Hon. Ben. Stark, [illegible] is a resident of this city, and so well known [illegible].

THROWING OUT BALLAST.—The English ship Middlesex, which has been lying out in the stream [illegible] her arrival in port, weighed anchor yesterday and [illegible] alongside the wharf. At present the [illegible] wholly of stone, is being cast [illegible] preparatory to the ship receiving grain, [illegible] which she is to load. Several days will be [illegible] to put the vessel in condition to begin loading.

WHOSE HOUSE?—We observe that some enterprising individual is engaged in building a large [illegible] in the City Park, situated west [illegible]. The new building is being erected in [illegible] of the [illegible]. Several persons have [illegible] inquiries who is building this house, for [illegible] purpose, and by whose authority. Has some one "jumped" the premises? Patiently we wait for light.

FROM OCHOCO.—Mr. H. C. Clements, who [illegible] to Ochoco on the report of gold discoveries [illegible], is now in our city. He informs us that [illegible] his observations extended the "color" [illegible] almost anywhere in that section, on the hillsides as well as in the ravines, but it is impossible to trace it. We would judge from his [illegible] that the Ochoco mines can hardly [illegible] a success.

TO COMMENCE OPERATIONS.—On Thursday or Friday two sets of machinery in the Oregon City Woolen Mills will be in operation for the first time. This will give employment to twenty five [illegible] hands. Besides this number, some thirty are engaged in putting up the new machinery as it [illegible] at the mill. In a few weeks all the machinery will be received, and as quick as possible, [illegible] will place it in position.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The Committee of Arrangements for the celebration of the Fourth of July, [illegible] requested to meet at the office of the [illegible] Light Company, Wednesday, 16th [illegible] promptly at 1 o'clock P. M., for hearing reports [illegible], and disposing of any balance of [illegible] may be on hand. By order of Chairman.

[illegible] AT ANCHOR.—Yesterday morning the English [illegible] Forward left McCraken's wharf, where [illegible] has been lying for some days, and passed out [illegible] middle of the stream, where the anchor was dropped. She will remain at anchor until ready [illegible] for Australia, which will be in [illegible] of a few weeks.

DEATH OF MRS RYAN.—The wife of Thomas Ryan was thrown from an express wagon on the 2d of July, and sustained terrible injuries. After [illegible] nearly two weeks during which time the [illegible] intense physical sufferings were endured, Mrs. Ryan expired yesterday from the effects of the injuries sustained by the fall.

ARRESTED AND DISCHARGED.—Last week Judge Denny took his departure from the city to recreate for a few days in Southern Oregon. Since then a number of arrests have been made for petty offences. There being no one before whom such offenders could be tried they were all discharged yesterday, much to their gratification.

AJAX ARRIVED.—Last evening, about half-past 7 o'clock, the steamer Ajax arrived from San Francisco. She brought a full freight and a large passenger list. Good weather and propitious winds must have favored the steamer, judging by the quick voyage from port to port.

SHIPMENTS OF SALMON.—Fifteen hundred cases of salmon were brought up yesterday evening on the Dixie Thompson from down the river. This salmon will be shipped direct to England on one of the ships now in port, and under charter to carry grain.

COTSWOLD SHEEP.—Five head of the above breed of sheep were brought to port on the steamer Ajax. These animals were purchased at Omaha some time ago by Hon. A. J. Dufur, while that gentleman was on his return from the East.

FOUND GUILTY.—The case of the United States vs Walter S. Kitchen, charged with the robbery of the United States mails, came up for trial yesterday. After a short deliberation the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

FOR ST. HELENS.—Late yesterday evening the tug Ben Holladay took the schooner Kolon down the river. This vessel will load with lumber at St. Helens for San Francisco.

BARK RIVAL.—The bark Rival came up the river yesterday morning in tow of the Astoria. She came from San Francisco, bringing a full cargo of assorted freight.

FINALLY DECIDED.

It is an old but true saying that a man is known by the books he reads and the company he keeps. This saying is illustrative of the great sewing machine war, in which nearly all of the second-class machines have played prominent parts, expending much ammunition and making forced marches attended with great loss. But our readers have not seen the name of the world-renowned GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE flourished before the people in the above connection, and this dignified reserve has established the popularity of the GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE, now and forever. It stands on its respectability and merits. These machines make the ELASTIC STITCH and SHUTTLE STITCH, and will be sold on installments of $10 per month. W. T. Shanahan, agent, 71 First street.

They make a specialty of fitting youths, and therefore it is to the interest of parents to call at the establishment of Beck & Waldman.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

A New York lady wears a set of Etruscan jewelry made over a thousand years ago which is pronounced superior in design and finish to anything made at present.

A Scranton journal states that the ladies there wear stove-pipe bifurcated under garments, and the men have their pants lined with barrel staves, and all because mad dogs are plenty there.

A Catholic father of St. Louis has warned his congregation that he will read from the altar each Sunday the names of all persons belonging to the parish who may have been found drunk during the preceding week.

Pearls require airing as much as horses and babies. Unless they are constantly worn they change color, and finally crumble to pieces. This is not the case with diamonds, though many New York ladies act as if they thought it was.

The New York Democratic State Convention will be held probably at Syracuse, in the early part of September. The Liberal Republican Convention will probably be held the same day, and it is understood that it will endorse the Democratic nominees.

This is the way it strikes the editor of the Superior Times: "That sweet scented ruffian known by the euphonic name of Stokes, who was not hung with the car hook worthy, will live till October, when he will prove in open court that Jim Fisk killed him, as it were."

A worthy old clergyman in a neighboring town is very absent-minded, and has a short memory. It is a common thing with him in the sermon to forget something, and then, after sitting down, to rise up again and begin his supplementary remarks with the expression, "By the way." A few Sundays ago he got half way through a prayer, when he hesitated, forgot what he was about, and sat down abruptly without closing. In a moment or two he rose, and, pointing his forefinger at the amazed congregation, he said, "Oh! by the way—Amen."

His Majesty, the Shah of Persia, was highly pleased with the appearance of the French Capital. He assured President McMahon that Paris looks like a bride's wedding dress. The Shah was greatly pleased with the reception, but as to the state of mind of the great potentate, he has no conception of the serious side of anything which he has seen. In this respect he is like a child at a fair. His Excellency, Sodrea, the Foreign Minister of Persia, is in the bad graces of the Shah, and will probably be dismissed and executed on the return of the Court to Teheran.

The largest farm in England consists of 3,000 acres, and belongs to a man by the Yankee name of Samuel Jones. In its cultivation he follows the "four-course" system, the whole extent of the farm being divided into four great crops, 750 acres to wheat, 750 to barley and oats, 750 to seeds, beans, peas, etc., and 750 to roots. His live stock is valued as follows: Sheep, $35,000; horses, $15,000; bullocks, $12,000; pigs, $2,500. The oilcake and corn produced annually amount to $20,000, and artificial fertilizers about $8,000. The entire cost of manure in various forms, used annually, is about $15,000. Sheep are claimed as the most profitable stock he keeps, and from them he realizes about $20,000.

It is remarkable how many writers can adorn the most commonplace subject with the flowers of poesy, and make of it a joy forever. We read in the Franklin Messenger that Mr. Jonathan M. Frost of that place, "who has dwelt upon this sublunary sphere for the term of 76 winters, and in that time had the mingled grief and pleasure to lay three wives where the flowers of spring could grow over them, and the dews of summer sparkle like a robe of diamonds about them, celebrated May day by taking to himself a fourth partner of his joys and sorrows in the person of the charming Mrs. Mary Mitchell, who has deposited two matrimonial ventures in a place of perpetual security, and gazed upon the blushing and odorous roses of 75 summers." This is touching.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

How to Baffle Disease.

The man who puts a bullet through his head dies more speedily than he who is continually sending volleys of strong cathartic pills down his throat; but the drastic pillets are as fatal in the end as the leaden ball. It is only a question of time. Common sense should teach everybody that the idea of expelling disease by subverting the bodily vigor, which is its natural antagonist, is supremely absurd. There should be no purgation without invigoration and regulation. These three processes should go on together, and they do so in all cases where Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are used as a remedy for disease, or for the general debility growing out of a torpid state of the digestive and secretive organs. In this great vegetable restorative are mingled three essential elements of cure: a purifying element, a tonic element, and an anti-bilious element. By this means dyspepsia, bilious disorders, intermittent fevers, sick headache, constipation and nervous debility are readily cured and epidemic disease prevented.

FRAGRANT SOZODONT hardens and invigorates the gums, purifies and perfumes the breath, cleanses, beautifies and preserves the teeth from youth to old age. Sold by all Druggists. 21

The only unfailing specific for diseases of the kidneys, bladder, and the organs affected by vicious habits, is Helmbold's Extract Buchu. This medicine cures. Dr. Helmbold is the only physician who has succeeded in obtaining the full virtues of Buchu. His is the original and only truly valuable preparation. It is confided in by physicians and patients alike. It is important that sufferers should obtain the genuine. Therefore ask for Helmbold's Extract Buchu, with the Doctor's signature on the bottle.

To cure a cough, to relieve all irritations of the throat, to restore perfect soundness and health to the most delicate organizations of the human frame—the Lungs—use Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which is still prepared with the same care in the selection and compounding of its various ingredients as when it was introduced to the public by Dr. Wistar, over forty years since.

For coughs, colds and throat disorders, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches," having proved their efficacy by a test of many years.

Make it your special business to call at Jos. Kohn & Co.'s, and look over their stock of Spring and Summer Goods, which is simply immense. They don't ask two prices for articles in their line, but place them at their lowest limit. If you want to be convinced of this fact, just drop in at the Pioneer Clothing Establishment and satisfy yourself in the matter. They keep only the best.

The cathartics used and approved by the physicians comprising the various medical associations of this State are now compounded and sold under the name of Parson's Purgative Pills.

How General Gordon Saved General Sheridan's Life.

[Philadelphia Press Letter.]

In Georgia I heard an incident in connection with Lieutenant General Sheridan which Little Phil. will read with some surprise, and lay down the paper with some grateful feelings toward the gallant soldier who saved his life. The night previous to the surrender of Lee at Appomattox, General John B. Gordon, who commanded Stonewall Jackson's old corps, General Fitz Hugh Lee commanding the cavalry, and General Longstreet, held a consultation with General R. E. Lee. At this consultation it was agreed that General Gordon should try the Federal strength on the following day. Sheridan was in command opposite Gordon. In accordance with the programme, Gordon made his demonstration the next day, and was met by Sheridan's cavalry, which he gallantly repulsed, but finding Sheridan well supported by large numbers of infantry, fell back and sent this intelligence to General R. E. Lee. Upon its receipt General Lee ordered the firing to cease, and displayed the white flag, under which the surrender was subsequently made.

During the cessation of hostilities, and while Generals Grant and Lee were in consultation, Gen. Sheridan, with a large retinue of officers and men—about one hundred in all—was seen approaching Gen. Gordon's lines. Of course, this cavalcade, as it came dashing across the plain, challenged the attention of Gordon's entire force. Chancing to turn his head, Gen. Gordon saw a long, lank Mississippian within a few yards of him deliberately training his cocked rifle on the approaching horsemen. Gordon dashed at the marksman and rode him down, with an exclamation more emphatic than refined, "What do you mean, sir?" thundered the irate Gordon; "don't you know firing has ceased by my order?" "I know, Gineral," replied Mississippi, as he gathered himself up, "but I thought it were a ridgment a-comin' agin us, and I just sighted that short-legged feller thar, and if you hadn't come up I'd a fetched him from whar he sot, and he's been a powerful heap of good to the Yanks."

That man was one of the best shots in the division, and never failed to kill his object when deliberate aim was had. Gordon turned to meet Sheridan, and Buchanan Read's hero has never known how near his life came to going out with the rebellion. Gen. Gordon is now United States Senator from Georgia.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS

Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medicinal utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. [illegible] in 1871–1872, for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the [illegible]. Several hundred of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1-lb bottles.

Beware of imitations, and take none but COLEMAN'S. For sale everywhere, and by HODGE, CALEF & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Portland, Sole Agents for Oregon.

Sale of Persia to Reuter.

THE MOST EXTRAORDINARY CONTRACT EVER HEARD OF

The New York World of July 2d contains the annexed translation of the concession given by the Shah of Persia to Baron Julius de Reuter

The concession was issued at Teheran on the 25th of July, 1872, the conditions imposed in it upon the concessionaire being ratified by him in London on the 24th of August of the same year

Article 1 authorizes Baron de Reuter, to establish in London a company, or any number of companies, for carrying out the works specified in the concession

Article 2 authorizes Baron de Reuter, or his associates or representatives, to construct a railway between the Caspian and the Persian Gulf, as well as any other railways he may think fit. This important privilege excludes competition, and is accorded for a period of seventy years.

Article 3 extends the railway privilege to tramways, referring to articles 4, 5, and 6 for the rules to be observed in establishing and working these two kinds of lines

Article 4 relates to the land required for the construction of railways, tramways, and the buildings and works connected with them. The Government land wanted will be handed over free of expense, the land belonging to private persons may be appropriated at current prices In the land required for the line is included the permanent way, wide enough for a double set of metals and a space of thirty metres on either side.

Article 5 allows the concessionaire (who is throughout identical with the company or companies representing him) the gratuitous use of the stone, sand, gravel, &c, on the Government domains which may be required in the construction and maintenance of the works. The Government also engages to see that the persons employed by the company be supplied with provisions, beasts of burden, &c, at charges not exceeding the ordinary prices of the country

Article 6 enacts that all the material imported by the concessionaire, or company or companies, both for railway or other purposes, shall be exempt from any duty, toll, custom, or excise whatsoever. All the concessionaire's lands, works, and employes will be free from any impost whatsoever, all business will be conducted free from impost, all his products, manufactures, &c, will be allowed to circulate in the country, or to be exported from the country, free of impost.

Article 7 stipulates that the details of the construction and working of the line shall be laid down in cahier de charge to be appended to the concession.

Article 9 allots to the Government 20 per cent of the net profits resulting from the working of the line.

Under article 10 the line or lines, after a period of seventy years, revert to the Government, free of charge, unless another agreement has been previously concluded between the Government and the concessionaire or concessionaires. As to the buildings, etc, belonging to the line or lines, they will have to be paid for under any circumstances by the Government at the prices accorded by the most liberal governments on such occasions.

Article 11 and 12 introduce the subject of mines With the exception of gold, silver and precious stone, any mine situate on government land may be appropriated and worked by the concessionaire free of charge, his sole obligation being in handing over to the government 15 per cent of the net proceeds. Any mine situate on private property, unless it has been worked five years previous to the concessionaire expressing a wish to acquire it, will have likewise to be handed over to him. Any mine discovered by the concessionaire may be bought by him at the price currently paid for the mere superficies of the ground in which it is situate.

By article 13 the land required to work the mines, as well as the land to put them in communication with railway, tramway, or high road, if belonging to the State, is handed over gratis to the concessionaire. The exemptions accorded to railway and tramway in article 6 are expressly extended to the mines, which likewise come under the seventy years' clause contained in article 10.

Article 14 accords to the concessionaire for seventy years the sole and exclusive privilege of working the most of the Government forests, all the land not cultivated up to the date of the concession being expressly included in this clause, 15 per cent of the proceeds of the forests belong to the Government. If the concessionaire cuts down a wood the land must be sold to him in preference to other buyers

Article 15 passes on to canals, wells, and other subjects connected with the natural and artificial water courses of the country. All such works are the exclusive privilege of the concessionaire, who [illegible] the [illegible] land without payment, but [illegible] to indemnify those proprietors who are injured by the innovation. Any uncultivated land [illegible] productive by these works belongs to the concessionaire, who will enter into an understanding with the Government respecting the price of the water to be sold. Fifteen per cent. of the net profits of the works belong to the Government.

Article 16 empowers the concessionaire and his associates to raise a capital of £6,000,000 sterling by means of shares or obligations to commence the construction of the railway and other works. The concessionaire to be left at liberty to determine the mode of raising the sum.

By article 19 the Government engage to hand over the management of their customs to the concessionaire or concessionaires for a period of [illegible]ty-five years, beginning March 1, 1874. The concessionaires engage to pay for this privilege £20,000 a year in excess of what the Government now receive. The price thus fixed will hold good for the first five years, an additional 60 per cent. of the net proceeds being accorded to the Government for the sixth and following years.

Article 20 records that if the Persian Government should determine to permit the establishment of a bank or any other credit institution in their country, the concessionaire or concessionaires will be allowed the first refusal in preference to any other parties.

Article 21 extends this right of preference enjoyed by the concessionaire to all enterprises connected with the providing gas, roads, telegraphs, mills, manufactures, forges, pavements, etc Improvements in the capital and postoffices are also included in this clause

Such are the contents of this notable agreement, by which one of the greatest Oriental potentates endeavors to accelerate and, so to say, Europeanize the progress of his country When it is considered that Persia is about five times as large as Great Britain and Ireland, and inhabited by only ten million people, the vast field she offers to commerce and industry, now that she has entered upon the path of modern civilisation, need not be dwelt upon. Teeming with natural resources, and situate between Europe and Asia, she is evidently destined to become one of the most important members of the great Eastern family, and as her people, by language and descent, are more closely connected with the Saxo Germanic nations of Europe than any other Orientals, it is perhaps not too sanguine to hope that the commercial and political intercourse, which is likely to grow more and more frequent, will, in time, produce results beneficial to the approximation of races and the civilization of the world at large. Baron de Reuter's engineers, I understand, have been at work in Persia already for some time past

THE ROMANCE OF AN AMERICAN GIRL.—To turn to lighter or less serious subjects, I must tell you a serio comic incident that occurred on the Pincio one morning last week. A young American lady, resident in Rome, rich, talented, good looking, and eccentric, acquired the habit of taking long strolls, outside the town, book in hand, and suiting, "the word to the action, and the action to the word." Upon the occasion in question in her elocutionary fervor she was utterly unconscious of the presence of a gentleman advancing along the path, at the moment of passing, the right hand was suddenly raised with dramatic force, and the point of the umbrella which served as a sceptor or sword, entered the eye of the unfortunate man, who, with a shriek of pain, fell upon the ground insensible. The horrified girl stared at the inanimate body as if turned to stone, but the courage and self possession for which our countrywomen are famous in cases of emergency quickly came to her aid, and dashing down book and umbrella, she rushed to the fountain close by, returning with a dripping handkerchief to bathe the face of the unconscious victim to her declamatory studies Upon the revival of the injured gentleman she ascertained that his carriage was close by and ran to fetch it As a matter of course, the young lady who had disfigured him for life could not leave him until safely housed, but entered the vehicle, drove home with him, and once there transformed herself into a sister of charity Whether it was remorse or pity that took possession of the lady is not evident, but a close sympathy sprang up between them—the gentleman being well educated, witty, and of good Roman family—and the Signorina Americana, of Kentucky had decided to bestow the use of her eyes upon her victimized admirer for better or for worse.—Correspondent Chicago Inter Ocean.

ABUSING THE CONFESSIONAL.—The Italian News in its Roman news says

A young man of gentlemanlike exterior, in a moment when the church of St Vitalo was nearly empty, entered the confessional box and shut himself in, awaiting some applicant for confession A young lady soon after knelt down, and began her confession But the sacristan knowing that the priest of that particular confessional was away from Rome, suspected a trick, and ran to call some priests in the church. They immediately went to the box, opened the shutters, and lo! found the young gentleman hearing the confession of a pretty girl The horror was general, but that of the young lady great in the extreme The young man said he had entered the box with the intention of having a little rest, as he felt sleepy Measures have been taken to denounce his conduct to the authorities for excommunication and the young man was exceedingly glad to escape with so little punishment.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Financial.

TUESDAY EVENING, July 1[illegible], 1873

Gold in New York to-day 115⅞

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85½ buying, 8[illegible] selling

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California 11s 7d@11s 9d, club, 12s 2d@12s 4d

There is but little complaint now of stringency in our local finances but murmurs about the [illegible] of trade are very often heard. The [illegible] at the trade of the country has outgrown the present [illegible] its resources and those rate prices which [illegible] the permanent [illegible] interests in the shape of the [illegible]. This condition of affairs is likely to be realized [illegible]sionally, and inevitably, until the vast acres of our State shall be redeemed from a state of wilderness, till our forests shall be felled and converted into lumber, shall supply a [illegible] of the many markets of the world, and our grain feed the hungry millions who would be willing to pay us for it in gold It is very well said that "There is no question as to the wealth and stability of our merchants as a body, and they are plodding on doing a safe and profitable traffic their credits are good at home and abroad The State on the whole is prosperous our cereal crops are abundant and of good quality, our mines of precious metals are yielding profusely, our wool clip is large, commanding remunerative prices the fruits of the vine and orchard are abundant in their kind, and turn which way you choose signs of growth and prosperity are everywhere discernible upon the Pacific slope Our ships and shipping find profitable employment, and everything denotes progress, and that of a stable and permanent character"

San Francisco Money Market.

A letter on finances from San Francisco says It is our agreeable duty to report an easy well supplied money market, after so many months of more or less stringency, and the pleasure is not lessened by the fact that this ease occurs precisely at the time when it is most required Gathering and moving the incoming large crop of wheat will necessitate the employment of large sums, but our financial pilots managed most adroitly to weather the storm last year with much less spread of canvas Important additions have been lately made to our monetary ballast, and no apprehensions are entertained in any quarter to prevent all lines of business from carrying sail with safety Our banking institutions have all found active employment for their funds, which proves that commercial and other transactions have been vigorously pursued. The large number of substantial improvements going on in various portions of the city is having the effect to enhance the value of property in their neighborhoods, and this improves real estate generally Rates are nominally unchanged from 1@1¼ ₩ cent per year, in commercial and 9@12 ₩ cent per year, in saving banks, but sundry large amounts have been loaned on call, at lower figures"

The Board of Directors of the Bank of California have demonstrated their appreciation of W C Ralston, Cashier of the bank since its organization nine years ago, by unanimously electing him to the Presidency in place of D. O Mills, who has tendered his resignation to take effect on the 15th inst.

Wool.

The circular of the San Francisco Wool Exchange of the 10th inst. denotes considerable activity in the market at that place, and says

Opening rates have been fully maintained, and on some descriptions there has been a slight advance, but without any excitement among buyers A large part of the clip has been taken directly by Eastern manufacturers, who had sent orders here Closer discrimination than ever before has been shown in making selections Wools of light condition, good staple, and free of burr, met with ready sale, short, heavy and defective wools have accumulated The clip this season is better than the average of several previous years The condition is better, and the wools are generally put up with more care The staple is strong, and longer than the average of 1872 There has also been a larger proportion of wools of a year's growth. We note, however, a wider spread of the burr through the State. The staple of many northern wools was rather short, on account of the late shearing in the fall, but the growth was sound, and the condition light. Most of the wools from this section were sold on arrival. Southern wools showed an improvement in condition and length of staple, and contained fewer burrs, but in the manner of putting up the wools there is little change, many lots having, as heretofore, been badly handled in the shearing Purchases for local account were small, and most of the wools came directly from the growers, who were generally ready to meet the market on arrival Stocks in the country held by growers who are unwilling to accept the present rates are considerable. Receipts the past six months comprise 47,185 bags and 863 bales Of these, 32,881 bags, averaging 285 lbs, were received by railroad, bay and river steamers and 15,096 bags, averaging 322 lbs, from the south, by steamers and vessels Owing to the extension of the railroad, less wool than in former years has been received by steamers There were received during the six months of 1873, 47,124 bags and 853 bales weighing 14 658,497 lbs, shipped East from the interior, 612,325; bought by country factories, 400,000 on hand January 1, 1873, about 2,000,000—total, 17,670,822 Comparison with former years 1873—California fleece, 14 658 497 lbs; 1872—do, 12 607,200, 1871—do, 13,381,-390 The supply of California wool during six months to date is 17,670,822 lbs, from Oregon 1 965 bags averaging 190 lbs, have arrived (373 450)—total supplies from California and Oregon. 18,044,272

The above statement does not comprise the amount shipped from Oregon this spring as our export of the season will equal if not exceed the total for which the statement gives us credit But one fact is shown which it would be well for wool-growers in our State to heed, and that is the discrimination which is being made by purchasers No one need think that a No 1 article mixed with an inferior lot will appreciate the value of the aggregate in full ratio to the proportion of fine wool which is thus mixed. The result, on the contrary, is a loss in value on the good without a corresponding increase in the price in the market of the inferior

The receipts from all sources at this point, as we are informed, have, up to this date, been over 2,100 bales Most of this has been bought on Eastern orders and at prices beyond which agents could not go Speculation in this commodity has, so far, affected the market but little. Prices have been steady and uniform, and though low grades are not so active the market has been characterized by a considerable firmness

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhoea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system? Look at their pallid, [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies [illegible] they are cured for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flush, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to such patients a written instrument, binding himself to [illegible] a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in a registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are [illegible] and to be [illegible] too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.
